SUTTON - The Sutton Towne Soccer Association girls under 12, coached by Rod McLeod and Vince Osterman, capped this indoor soccer season by capturing the title for their division at the John Smith Sports Center in Milford, MA on April 13.

With a regular season record of 4 wins and 2 losses, the girls were seeded third in the playoffs, forcing them to face a very talented 1st place (6 wins and 0 losses) team from Easton in the semi-final game. (Easton had previously defeated Sutton 12-1 during the regular season.) In an exciting contest, Sutton came from behind to tie the game 3-3 at the end of regulation time, forcing a shoot-out to determine the winner.

Sarah Osterman, replacing the regular goalie in the shootout, stopped all three Easton kickers. A very talented Easton goalie stopped the first two Sutton kickers, but was unable to turn back the final and winning shot by Sarah Osterman. Sutton Towne prevailed 4-3.

In the finals, the Sutton girls were paired against a very physical and talented team from Holliston. During the regular season the teams split their games by identical 6-5 scores. Showing some physical and mental fatigue, probably due to the excitement of the semi-final game, the Sutton girls allowed their opponents to jump to a quick two goal lead. Sutton was finally able to break the ice with seven minutes remaining, Kelly Shepherd scoring on a brilliant assist from Emily Hoye. With just four minutes left, Sarah Osterman scored on a direct kick from 15 yards out to knot the score at 2-2.

With time dwindling, it appeared that this game would also end tied. The Sutton girls were dominating the play but could not get the ball into the net. With 35 seconds left, Bethany Johnson forced an indirect kick. Kelly Shepherd headed a cross from Sarah Osterman past the Holliston keeper and Sutton captured the game and the title by a score of 3-2.

Commenting on the tournament and season, Coach Rod McLeod said, "Our success was not because of 1 or 2 players, but because all our young ladies played as a team, everyone contributed to our success. Winning soccer is keyed by good defense, and the defensive play of Emily Hoye, Bethany Johnson, Pam Gorczynski, Kate Perry and our goalie, Christine Strieby, was excellent."

Rounding out this talented team were Amanda Colbry, Elizabeth Ducharme, Jocelin Johnson, Jadey Kerswell, Meaghan McLeod, Sarah Osterman, Amanda Rider, Melissa Roy, Kelly Shepherd, and Rose Anna Wrenn.

The Paul Revere Saga: Chapter Two

(This is the second in a series of articles dealing with the problems that have plagued the Paul Revere Condominiums off Grafton Street since the project first came before the Millbury Planning Board in 1983.)

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - On July 25, 1983, the Planning Board held a public hearing on a special permit request from Forrow Builders Inc. to construct 180 condominiums on 60 acres of land on the northerly side of Grafton Street.

Present for that hearing were: Paul O'Connell, attorney for Forrow Builders; Mark Donohoe, from Charles E. Perkins Engineering; and Frank Piscitelli, Chairman of the Board of Health at that time.

The Planning Board at that time consisted of the following members: James Fitzpatrick, chairman; Mary Anne Dube, Donald Markey, Philip E. Dumas, and Walter E. Tebo.

The following residents also spoke at that meeting: Anthony Mangano, Bob and Carol Perry, Tom Fox, Jr., William Walsh, Pat Juneau, Ed Piasta, Florence Gagne, Beverly Handfield, Robert Guertin, Joy Greenfield, Robert Grenier, John Deeter, Theresa Morin, Richard Valentino, Raymond Guerin, Gregory Robb, Alan Tuttle. Town officials present included Selectmen Jude Cristo and Roland Lachance, and Phyllis Orrell, a member of the Finance Committee.

Information and quotations in this report were taken directly from minutes of the July 25 meeting, as taken by then Planning Board Secretary Mary Clark.

Perkins Engineering representative Mark Donohoe explained that an aerial view was taken of the proposed site. He showed the plan and explained the proposal. He said there would be 180 gable-style units, either duplexes or four-

Board Reviews Personnel Report

By Lawrence Moore

SUTTON - The Board of Selectmen met at 7:35 p.m. on April 23, with all present.

Correspondence

The Police Department, in cooperation with the Whitinsville Water Company, is again operating a Firearms Training Range on Mendon Road.

John Connor suggested the appointment of Robert C. Achorn as the Sutton Representative to the Blackstone Valley Regional Development Commission. Pending an interview, Achorn was appointed Acting Representative so that he could attend a meeting on April 26 presented by Richard Taylor of The Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, on the 146 interchange.

Chapter 372 of the acts of 1990 requires each community Planning Board to develop a Master Plan, having a goal and policy statement, with maps, texts, and statements showing the basis for decisions on long term development. It must be a public process and have due regard for community values.

In a follow-up with Blois, the details of Chapter 372 were outlined. The Master Plan must have these elements: Land use, Housing, Economic Development, Natural and Cultural Resources, Open Space and Recreation, Services and Facilities (Infrastructure), and Traffic Patterns. Implementation must be consistent in approach and be a public record. The plan may be revised from time to time. A copy must be sent to the Executive Office of Community Development when applying for grants.

Blois has notified the Planner and the Planning Board.

Strieby referred to communications from Representative Richard Moore and the Mass. Municipal Association, indicating, at best, level funding, and possibly reductions in local aid.

Center Intersection

Blois reported a change in plans for the Center Intersection. In cooperation with Highway Surveyor Ray Smith and DPW Engineers, it is planned to "take the crown off" the road to improve visibility and safety. Sutton's state highway aid will cover costs estimated at less than $5,000.

Manchaug Pond Boat Ramp

The Board of Selectmen last year agreed with the Public Access Board for the State to give the town a gate for the Manchaug boat ramp in order to control access. The gate has been installed.

The Manchaug Pond Association is concerned about pond safety. During week-ends and holiday periods an attendant will collect a $5 access fee, and limit parking to 35 vehicles.

Millbury Selectmen's Meeting Digest

Sewer Commissioners Update Board on Several Issues

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - Chairman Jude Cristo called the April 23 Selectmen's meeting to order at 7 p.m. With the exception of Donald Gauthier, all members were present.

Transfer of Funds

Administrative Assistant Earl Chase asked for permission to seek a transfer of funds from the Finance Committee to pay for an unemployment compensation bill of $1500 for April. He said FinCom understands that they will be getting a request for a transfer of funds on a monthly basis for bills pertaining to unemployment compensation through the rest of this fiscal year.

Used Van

At the suggestion of Selectman Gerry Bleau, the board agreed to defer consideration of the purchase of a used van for the dog control officer until after town meeting.

Chase said FinCom has recommended a sum of $5700 for a used van. Two vehicles, one an '89 and the other an '88, have been viewed.

Police Business

At 7:45, the board met with Provisional Police Chief Ron Stokowski in executive session on a matter pertaining to collective bargaining.

Following this, Stokowski reported that Juvenile Court Judge Perez has indicated that the disposition of the court case of four juveniles connected with the vandalism at Central and St. Brigid's cemeteries is being taken under advisement. He also said Perez has indicated he would be willing to meet with the Selectmen to explain to them how the juvenile justice system operates and what parameters a judge has to work with in juvenile cases.

The board asked Earl Chase to contact the judge to arrange for a convenient meeting time.

Conservation Commission

Conservation Commission Chairman Richard Luikey is looking to the board to make an appointment to fill a vacancy on the commission. The commission has offered the name of Margaret Lavallee as their choice to fill the vacancy. She is scheduled for an interview before the board after the town meeting.

Cristo also said the Conservation Commission is asking for a clarification on the pay for their secretary, suggesting that she is getting paid less than she should be as a part time person.

Chase will look into the situation.

Miscellaneous

The board interviewed Andrea West for a vacancy on the Personnel Board. She noted her previous experience in management and personnel issues which she said would be of benefit to the town. The board took no action.

The board accepted the resignation of Youth Commissioner Mary Clark.

Honoring Veterans

Veterans Agent Phil Buso, Stuart Mulhane, commander of the Devoe Taylor American Legion Post, and Janice Williams, mother of Desert Storm Veteran Robert Guyan, were present for an update on proposed ceremonies for honoring veterans of Desert Storm during a segment of the Independence Day parade on June 30.

Buso passed out a replica of a plaque to be presented to those veterans who will be able to attend the ceremonies and to the families of those unable to attend. Buso said that possibly 3-5 veterans would be in attendance.

According to Buso, the ceremony will be held in the center of town during a portion of the parade and is expected to be brief All veterans from previous wars will be invited to participate in the parade.

Buso mentioned a trust fund that has been established by a private group to present a bonus to returning veterans, and he suggested that contributions in excess of what is needed for the plaques and certificates be sent to that fund.

Williams noted that all veterans are being asked to participate, and said that Vietnam veterans will be asked to participate not out of a sense of guilt, but because they deserve to be recognized as well.

Sylvio Bourdeau, a Korean Veteran, said that the Korean War veterans have been waiting 40 years to be recognized. He said he called and wrote the White House after the omission of Korean War veterans by the President and General Colin Powell in several speeches.

Cristo asked Mulhane if the VFW or American Legion Posts were planning anything. Mulhane said there were no plans by either organization as it was thought the ceremonies might become too complicated.

Junk Dealer's License

The board met with a representative of the Horace Mann Educational Association who was present to seek a Junk Dealer's license to operate a thrift store on Elm Street next to the Donut Villa. The store would sell used clothing and eventually small, used appliances. The shop would be open from 9-4, Monday through Saturday, and two evenings. The board approved the license 4-0.

Meeting with Sewer Commissioners

The board met with the Sewer Commissioners and the Board of Health to discuss ways of acquiring revenues from the Upper Blackstone Sewer Abatement District that operates the wastewater treatment plant on land in Millbury on Rt. 20.

The discussion centered on developing legislation to allow the town to receive compensation other than the $1600 the town now receives.

Sewer Commission Chairman George Buron referred to a report from Morganroth Associates, engineering consultants, listing three possible alternatives: 1. tax the buildings, with the exception of the training school, which would be exempt; 2. abate septic fees (this alternative was considered not feasible by Morganroth as it would have a declining benefit to the town as the town becomes more sewered; and 3. a donation in lieu of taxes.

Buron said the 3rd alternative possibly is the best as he was not sure the plant could be taxed.

The estimated requested donation, according to Cristo, would be somewhere near $50-60,000 per year.

Chase suggested the possibility of considering negotiating a host community fee similar to the arrangement with Wheelabrator. The fee would be based on a rate of gallonage treated at the plant so there would be a figure on which to base a fee.

Buron said the commissioners do not know what the daily flow is at the plant.

Board of Health Chairman Jim Dwinell said he thought it was 41 million gallons per day. He asked if there were any other similar district treatment plants across the state.

Buron said there are, but he was not aware of any by name. Cristo asked Chase to research other similar facilities.

Cristo said he thought the property tax approach was probably the most fair and equitable alternative. "We are not trying to make it a massive money making proposition. A formula proposal may be hard to justify," he said.

Buron said he agreed that a property tax would be better. The board voted 4-0 to request area legislators to meet with the three boards to discuss possible legislation.

In another matter, Buron reported that Wheelabrator has refused to accept sludge from the town's waste water treatment plant even though the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) has given its approval. He said the sludge would not impact on emissions from the plant.

Cristo suggested that a letter be written to Wheelabrator.

Buron asked that a joint meeting be held and that the DEP be involved. He said that for the town to get rid of the sludge, which now is 100 tons, by trucking it out of town would be costly.

The Selectmen, Sewer Commissioners, and Board of Health members then met with Eileen Comaine of Massachusetts American Water Company to discuss the issue of the Water Company acquiring a piece of a small parcel of land on Sutton Road to allow them to install a pumping station to increase water pressure in the Laurel Heights area.

Buron said the sewer commission also has a claim on that parcel of land but were amenable to splitting the parcel so both could install pumping stations for their own needs.

Comaine said the water company would only need about 2500-3000 sq. ft. for a small above ground building. The parcel is approximately a 1/2 acre lot.

Buron said the sewer commission would need the upper portion towards Sutton as recommended by their engineering consultants.

Cristo asked what the Water Company would offer for the piece of land. Comaine replied that they would offer the average price derived from a mutually agreed appraisal.

A question was raised as to how the town could sell the property without going out to bid.

Comaine said that a 10 year lease, as suggested by Cristo, would not be adequate for the Water Company's needs. She said that possibly a restricted covenant could be placed on the parcel thus making its value less to another interested person.

Buron said the parcel was acquired 120 years or so ago through tax tittle.

Cristo said that town meeting would have to vote on authorizing the selectmen to sell the land.

Cristo told Comaine that the board will meet with her again after the town meeting to work out the details.

The board voted 4-0 to allow the Sewer Commissioners to hire a flag man rather than an off duty police officer for a work detail on Howe Avenue. Buron said the police officer requirement would kill the sewer department's budget.

Cristo asked Chase if it was a grievable item. Chase said it would not be a violation of policy but would set a precedent. Cristo said it was a municipal project to be done by a private contractor.

Clearview Country Club

The last agenda item before the reading of mail concerned a request from Francis Castagnetti, owner of Clearview Country Club, who was present to ask the board to reconsider a previous vote denying him a liquor license because of taxes owed the town since 1989. The amount due the town totals an estimated $30,000 for 1989-1990. The amount does not include this year's taxes, according to Chase.

Castagnetti suggested a partial payment of 50% of the amount due with the balance payable in 60 days. He said that the proposal did not include taxes due for 1991.

Cristo said the board is aware that much of the business at the Country Club is seasonal. He said that maybe half a loaf is better than none, and said that many Millbury residents use the golf course and facilities. He said the license would help service local people.

Castagnetti said it is a "Catch-22" situation as it would be impossible to catch up on the payment of taxes without the license.

Selectman Bernard Plante asked if there was a penalty system if he did not comply with the payment system proposed.

Chase said a hearing could be held once the license is revoked. "That is the penalty," he said.

Selectman Roland Lachance told Castagnetti that if he needs money, he should go to a bank. "I'll not vote for the request. That's it. You have an obligation. You're no different than I am," he said.

"I may be (different)," Castagnetti replied. "I'm in real estate. It's hard to get money from banks these days, otherwise I would not be here tonight."

Cristo asked if there was a motion to be put forth.

After a pause, Cristo said, "I don't hear a motion. I assume you will not get the license."

"I understand," Castagnetti said. "I'm only making a request. I may not have any members without the license."

"We have never made an exception," Lachance said. "I don't want to get involved in that. If we make an exception, others will come forward."

"I'm not trying to avoid taxes," Castagnetti said. "It's a question of how can I (pay). I don't want to open Pandora's Box."

Cristo closed the discussion by saying, "There is not a motion. Your request is pretty much denied. If you come up with another proposal, contact Mr. Chase."

Community Service Program

Chase said the individuals that were to be involved with laying the bluestone at the Asa Waters Mansion were not available at the County Jail as part of the jail's Community Service Program. He said a group of prisoners from the jail will be in town tomorrow to work with the highway department to pick up litter along the streets.

Correspondence

Former State Rep. Questions, 'Why Now?'

By Alec G. Belisle

MILLBURY - On April 24, Glenn Sadulsky of the consulting firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendorff (HNTB); Thomas Hession, Project Manager for the DPW; and Lenny Barbieri, a representative from the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, met with the Route 146 Study Committee and Millbury residents to discuss the "westerly" alternative to the Route 146/Mass Pike/Route 20 interchanges and road realignment.

According to Sadulsky, at the request of the study committee, engineers prepared the westerly route. Some of the factors that they considered in the plans were the 50 and 100 year flood plans which forced them to configure a roadway which was not within the floodway and two feet above the 100 year floodway. When they built the road to consider the floodway, they then had to relocate the railroad further west. In doing this, the engineers had to design embankments to support the road. These embankments projected into the wetlands and floodway in some locations.

The engineers then considered constructing a viaduct over the area. Sadulsky said this type of construction was very expensive and environmentally damaging. He told the 50 residents in attendance at the High School that this alternative would add another $65 million dollars to the predicted $80-$85 million cost of the project.

Millbury Town Planner David Hulseberg read a letter from Save the Bay, an environmental organization which is working to clean up the Blackstone River and waterways from Providence to the Atlantic Ocean. The letter expressed their opposition to the westerly route alignment which, they said, would destroy the wetlands and disturb the contaminated sediment and heavy metals in the Blackstone River, causing more pollution to be carried into Rhode Island waterways. They said they preferred that the state construct the project along the easterly route because it would cause less environmental damage.

Sadulsky also said that a westerly route would, in effect, split the town in half along Route 146. As the westerly alignment is now configured, the only access residents would have to Rt. 146 would be the West Main/Elm Street entrance/exit. He could not promise that other access points to Rt. 146 would be constructed for Millbury residents should the state construct the westerly route.

Former State Representative Richard Dwinell questioned whether the state could build the interchanges at all. He explained that when he was Chairman of the Millbury Board of Selectman in 1952 he was told by state officials that an interchange at the Rt. 146 location was not feasible from an environmental or engineering standpoint because of the soil and grade conditions.

He continued, saying that the state also told the selectmen, at that time, that the East to West incline on Route 20 was too steep for trailer trucks to safely enter an interchange. "They had a whole list of reasons citing why they couldn't put an interchange there," Dwinell said.

Dwinell then asked how conditions could have changed so radically in the intervening years to now allow for the interchange.

No one responded to his question.

Millbury businessman George Chabot, saying he was speaking form a businessman's viewpoint, told the gathering, "If the Town of Millbury does not support this interchange, you are making the biggest mistake of your life."

He remarked that in past meetings, the town asked what it would gain. He said that from a business point of view, it takes people to do business. "If you don't have people, you don't have business. That's why Worcester, which is falling apart, wants this interchange. It's good for Worcester; it's going to be good for Millbury; it's going to be good for the Blackstone Valley." He said he approved of the easterly route and said that he has travelled throughout the country where roads and bridges have been built in all types of conditions.

In answer to a question from Cristo, Sadulsky said that the only business which would be relocated should the westerly route be constructed is the railroad.

Sadulsky acknowledged that the westerly route tends to isolate Millbury. He explained that it was not designed to do that but the narrow corridor with which the engineers have to work makes that a possibility.

Copies of the Study Committee's report are available at the Millbury Public Library, the Town Clerk's Office, and the Planning Board Office. Hulseberg encouraged residents to make their comments known to local and state politicians so they can be included in the recommendations.

According to Sadulsky, all of the documents which the state has compiled will be gathered into what is called the "Step 2 Core Report." This report will be submitted to the Army Corps of Engineers during the first week of May, and the Corps will then begin making its own assessments on alternatives.

Barbieri said the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority is anxious to see this project go ahead and is willing to do what it can to see that the project moves along.

Hession provided the following tentative time frame for the project: the final document completed by the end of 1992; two years for design, the end of 1994; a year for relocation - the end of 1995; construction to begin in 1996 and two to three years of construction, making completion by the end of 1998.

School Committee Responds to Selectmen's Letter

By Edward J. Cooney

SUTTON - The School Committee met on April 22. With the exception of Andrew Smith, all members were present.

Chairman Glen Anderson asked if anyone in the audience wished to speak to any article on the agenda. No one from the audience responded, but School Committee member Elizabeth Bacon asked to speak as a parent on an agenda item dealing with a proposal to bring the Performing Arts School of Worcester to the Sutton Schools in an after-school music and dance program.

Bacon said she and her daughter have taken violin lessons at the Performing Arts School and were impressed with the school's work. "It's an opportunity for children to be exposed to great music," she said.

Shirley Benjamin, representing the Performing Arts School, then gave a brief proposal on what programs would be available in an after school program. She said the program anticipated for Sutton would also include a pre-school program in music and dance.

Benjamin said the after school program would supplement the present music program in the Sutton schools. "This would not interfere with the school programs," she said. "The program would be closely intertwined, as we benefit from the school program."

Superintendent Gordon Spence noted that all tenured teachers are on notice that they may not be back in September. "The music staff are sensitive to the possibility that you can offer a supplemental program," he said. "The music teachers have expressed their concern and feel if music is to expand it should be in their area of expertise so as to enhance their position in the system. The timing is bad," Spence said, "but once we get the budget process behind us, and teachers are in place, their apprehension will fade."

Benjamin said she would need to know the committee's decision by the end of May in order to line up a faculty for September.

Spence said it is possible that a final determination of the school budget could linger on into the summer, depending on what the May 6 town meeting decides.

Anderson asked how the program would operate financially. Benjamin said there would be tuition paid by students and the schools would be paid a rental fee for the use of the school building.

Committeewoman Linda Roach noted that the recently formed sub-committee on School Building Use will be making its report shortly and suggested it would be appropriate to wait for that report.

Bacon urged acceptance of the program, calling it a "fantastic opportunity" and saying, "It's time we put the children's interests first."

Roach said she was nervous about putting in a program like this at this time. She noted also that the regular school program is open to all students and that this program requires the payment of tuition. "I don't want to jeopardize our present programs," she said.

Bacon asked how it would jeopardize the present music program. Roach replied that she thought it could create confusion as it could be construed that this type of program would replace the present program. She said the present budget is being scrutinized and it would be better to wait until after town meeting before making a decision. "I believe in this (program)," she said, "but I don't want to jeopardize what we already have."

Anderson asked Spence if a vote was needed now; Spence said it was not.

Accident Insurance

Spence then proposed that the committee consider approving the administration's recommendations to offer accident insurance to both staff and students for a $7.00 premium for coverage from home to school, during school, and back home, and another coverage for 24 hours at a premium of $35. He said there would be no cost to the school system.

Envelopes will be sent home to parents, who would then return the envelopes with the premium if they are interested. The committee approved 4-0.

Milk Bid

The committee approved the administration's recommendation to award a milk bid to Meola Dairy, the only bidder, at 13.5 cents per carton.

Drug Policy

The committee tabled a town employee drug policy developed by Town Administrator Dexter Blois. Spence said the Sutton Teachers Association president has indicated he saw no problem with the policy.

The committee opted to wait until the next meeting before taking any action on the policy to allow for its review by members.

Budget

Anderson said he wanted to make a statement prior to the Superintendent's update on the FY 1992 budget. He made reference to a motion approved by the board of selectmen at their April 16 meeting to ask the school committee to engage the Teachers Union in a discussion on wage issues.

"It is up to this committee, the school committee," he said, "to decide if and when to reopen the contract, not the selectmen. We are aware of the proposed reduction in state aide; those figures are not still finalized. There are also other figures still needed to be finalized. Once the figures are finalized, that is the time to sit down and discuss the budget."

Anderson went on to say that communication between departments should be done through the proper channels and not through the media.

Spence said he received a letter today from the Board of Selectmen, which Anderson read to the committee.

The letter noted that the Board of Selectmen voted at its April 16 meeting to formally request that the school committee immediately engage the teacher's union in a discussion "that will hopefully lead to a conciliatory resolution of the wage issue."

According to the letter, "Discussion that followed the motion centered around salary negotiations, and the impact of the contractual increase that had been previously awarded the teachers. It was felt that 6% is more than the town can afford, given that people are out of work, businesses are closing, and the overall condition of the Massachusetts economy.

"Hopefully," the letter continued, "if the teachers' union will reconsider the contractual increases, jobs can be saved, and a balanced budget can be passed. As you know, tax bills cannot be sent out until the town's budget is balanced. A plexes, with one car garages. He said the units would be built on the flat section of property and that the development would be hidden from Grafton Street. There were also plans for four single family homes on Grafton St.

Donohoe showed all the trees on the plan that would remain. He said the road network meets subdivision rules and would have loop roads, except for a 100 foot stretch of the road.

According to the minutes, "Atty. O'Connell explained that Tiffany Townhouses [a condominium project in East Millbury off MacArthur Drive, built by Forrow Builders] had about 60 units on approximately nine acres of land which is seven units per acre. In this development, it would be 180 units on 65 acres of land which is three units per acre. The density would be half of what it is for Tiffany Townhouses. He stated that when Tiffany Townhouses was built, it was agreed that the ways within the development would remain private ways, and the responsibility of the association. He stated that it would be the same with this project. He stated that estimated taxes would be $1,000 per unit, which would be approximately $180,000 in real estate taxes for the town. He stated that the developer's investment at this point is in excess of $10,000.

"O'Connell stated that fire protection and ambulance service would not be a problem. He explained that Forrow Builders would sign an agreement that the town would not issue an occupancy permit for a unit until the roadway and the utilities were completed to the particular unit, and beyond that, complete the landscaping for any unit that is issued an occupancy permit."

"Atty. O'Connell also stated that he had written up some possible restrictions that the Board may want to consider, some are the same as what was proposed for Tiffany Townhouses. This would be to insure that the development would be constructed as it was proposed. It also provides that the association that the people would belong to would be responsible for the property, pumping septic systems once a year, and to make sure that other maintenance requirements are met."

Planning Board Chairman James Fitzpatrick asked if there was anyone present to speak in favor of the condominiums. "There was no one to speak in favor," the minutes state, "However, there were several residents to speak against the proposal."

The first resident to speak was Tom Fox Jr., who asked the board to explain why a Special Permit was necessary.

Fitzpatrick said the district in question is zoned suburban-residential. "A developer could either build a subdivision or multi-family units. This plan would be proposed under 'cluster' zoning, and a Special Permit must be obtained."

Fox then questioned the difference between a Special Permit and a Variance.

O'Connell said that the Planning Board is the Special Permit granting authority. "The use under a Special Permit is an allowable use, but that the Special Permit granting authority can make conditions." When a variance is granted it is something that is not an allowable use.

"Mr. J. Fitzpatrick explained the procedure that had been followed with Tiffany Townhouses regarding problems of traffic flow, sewers, school impact, etc."

Phyllis Orrell, a member of the Finance Committee, then questioned whether or not the septic systems would be contained.

Donohoe replied "that there will be sub-surface sewerage. Leach fields will be installed. He stated that the Conservation Commission would become involved in the back section of the project as it would be within 100 ft. of a wetland.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that in the back area there will be some drainage systems constructed to deal with the water. It is not a major problem, but it will not be dealt with until the final stage of the project. Atty. O'Connell stated that the Conservation Commission indicated to him that it would be easy to comply."

Jude Cristo, who also served as a Selectman in 1983, said he had been contacted by several residents of Grafton St. regarding potential traffic problems.

Orrell said she lives near Tiffany Townhouses and there have been no serious traffic problems since the condominiums were built.

O'Connell said the traffic issue would be addressed.

Fitzpatrick stated that because of the location of the site, "half of the traffic would probably go to Millbury, and the other half to Grafton."

Carol Perry said she was not so much concerned with the amount of traffic as with the speed.

Robert Guertin noted that the planned entrance and exit would be on the part of the road where there is a "dip," limiting the view.

Raymond Guerin questioned whether the subdivision proposed by George Kowszik, off Grafton St., would interconnect with this one. He also asked if there were any long range plans for sewerage and, if so, what time frame would they be looking at.

"Fitzpatrick explained that the Board has had some preliminary discussions regarding the expansion of the sewer lines with the Sewer Commissioners. The Sewer Commissioners have indicated that this particular section of town is part of the next phase of development, depending on State and Federal funds. The Sewer Commissioners' recommendation would be to install dry sewer lines. No decision has been made regarding this, and the Sewer Commissioners cannot give any guarantee that the monies would be available."

Raymond Guerin asked whether there are any long range plans or should they assume that the plans are "up in the air."

Fitzpatrick said the Planning Board, the developer and the Sewer Commissioners have discussed the matter, but no decision has been made.

"Robert Perry stated that this section of Grafton St. is now a highway, and traffic is one of his concerns. He also complained about the odor at Tiffany Townhouses and is concerned about self-contained, septic systems."

"Robert Grenier stated that his main concern is the traffic. He does not think that the Board should take this matter lightly."

Grenier also questioned the water pressure and the fact that the water would be supplied through the Oakwood Heights Water District. He asked if there would be pumping stations.

Raymond Dubois, a commissioner of the Oakwood Heights Water District at that time, said that Mass. American Water Company "assured them that sufficient water is available. The Oakwood Heights Water District would not sign any contracts until they are sure that everything has been approved by the Fire Dept., Planning Board, etc.," Dubois said. "He further stated that he does not see any problem with water pressure at this time."

Gregory Robb said he was concerned that the developer would be able to sell 180 units.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that when they built Tiffany Townhouses, they thought it would take five years to sell them and they have sold 46 units out of 54. He stated that the remainder will be sold within the next several months."

John Deeter stated that the reconstruction of Grafton St. will make this area more of a speedway than it is now.

Bill Walsh questioned exactly what the Planning Board would be doing tonight and when a decision would be made.

Fitzpatrick explained that the vote would have to be a four-fifths vote of the Board and that no decision would be made this evening.

Alan Tuttle, an assessor and resident of the area at that time, said he had concerns over Proposition 2 1/2 as the amount of tax levy can only be raised by 2 1/2. If 180 units were built, he said, they would need additional teachers because of the children. He also said he was concerned about sewerage.

Theresa Morin asked if the developer could reduce the number of units from 180 to 90.

Richard Valentino asked if all the units would have their own septic systems?

"Marc Donohoe stated that there will be leachfields. The sub-surface disposal system will be the same as a single family dwelling."

Joy Greenfield said she was concerned with sewerage, traffic, and water. She questioned whether each individual owner would have to empty their septic tank.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that they would have it written in the agreement that the individual owners would have to pump their septic systems once a year."

Greenfield asked how anyone would know that the owners had done this.

"Atty. O'Connell replied that this would be done annually, would be written in the contract agreement, and the association would make sure that it was done."

Robert Perry said he was concerned about the impact of additional children in the area.

O'Connell replied that when Tiffany Townhouses were being built, the neighbors in that area also had concerns about more children. "There are only four children living in Tiffany Townhouses," he said.

(According to Sarah Lilley, who currently serves as President of the Paul Revere Village Association, there are approximately 60 children under the age of 12 now living at the Paul Revere condominiums.)

Perry then asked why the developer would build two bedroom units if he did not expect children to be living here.

Planning Board member Phil Dumas replied that he is married, has no children, and has a three bedroom home. "It is nice to have room for guests," he said.

Board member Donald Markey said he had been involved at work with the building of condominiums since 1977 and that the appreciation in value is much greater than in a single family dwelling. He said he would do a study on the number of children in condominiums in surrounding towns.

Ed Piasta questioned what this development would do to the value of his home.

Patricia Juneau said she bought a single family home and did not like the idea of condominiums in the neighborhood. She asked the Board to take the feelings of the neighbors under consideration when making their decision.

Fitzpatrick said all the comments by the people would be taken under consideration by the Board.

Gregory Robb wanted to know why the developer would build condominiums instead of single family homes.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that he feels that when the people look at the project in detail, how far it is set back from the road, etc. they will conclude that it is a plus for the community; prices will be in the $60,000 to $63,000 price range.

"Frank Piscitelli, Chairman of the Board of Health, stated that all the perc tests were good, and soil conditions were good quality. He stated that no plans have been submitted to the Board of Health as yet for review."

Beverly Handfield said she is concerned that Kowszik and Bernard, who both had subdivision plans approved at that time , could now build condominiums. She also questioned where the leachfields would be.

Fitzpatrick said that Kowszik and Bernard both have subdivision plans submitted and there is no way they could be changed to build condominiums.

Donohoe then showed the septic systems on the plan, and said that each building would have a separate system.

Fitzpatrick said the septic systems would have to be installed under Title V of the Board of Health.

Raymond Guerin questioned the amount of noise during the construction process, and asked how long it would take to build the project.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that starting date would be depending on when the Planning Board makes their decision. If the decision is made soon, starting date could possibly be early October. It is quite possible that they would start the construction of the main road but construction of the units would be deferred until the spring. In terms of how long it would take to build the entire project, it could be five, six or seven years. However, when they built Tiffany Townhouses, they thought it would take four years and it only took two years.

Anthony Mangano then asked what recourse the people would have if the Planning Board grants the Special Permit .

"Fitzpatrick explained that the purpose of the hearing tonight is to get input from the people and that the Board will take all that is said under consideration. The Board will discuss the matter at future meetings and have 90 days to make a decision. If the citizens are upset if the decision is in the affirmative, they could seek legal recourse. He explained that a 4/5 vote of the Board is needed. Mr. J. Fitzpatrick also stated that the Board has an eight page report from Boston Survey Co. regarding the condominium project that they will read and consider."

Alan Tuttle asked Mr. Piscitelli when the perc test were done.

Piscitelli replied that they were done prior to May 31st.

Roland Lachance, a member of the Board of Selectmen at that time, questioned, "If the sewerage fails, and the people do not clean their tanks, who would enforce this." He also asked if the streets would remain private forever.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that the Board of Health has the responsibility to order that the septic system be cleaned, and court action can be taken if the people do not address the problem. He also stated that streets would remain private."

Anthony Mangano asked if the people who buy the condominiums would be able to rent their units.

O'Connell said, "They would have to have 75-100% of the people there willing to have rental property."

"Donald Markey stated that as far as rentals are concerned, it would cost approximately $700 a month and this would be out of the apartment market."

(According to a statement made by Sarah Lilley at the Selectmen's April 10 meeting, 25% of the units are presently rented.)

Bill Walsh asked the board for their opinions on the project.

"Walter Tebo stated that there is a great deal of research to be done. He stated that he feels this is an altogether different type of project and he would not be able to make a decision at this time.

"Mary Anne Dube stated that she could not make a decision tonight as there have not been enough answers to the questions that have been raised.

"Mr. Dumas had no comment at this time."

Markey said he felt there were five major concerns: 1 Traffic; 2. Water supply (he said he felt Ray Dubois answered that question); 3. Sewerage. "Whether dry sewer lines or town sewers will be available is not known at this time;" 4. Sales and rentals; 5. Number of children per unit.

Patricia Juneau asked why the developer had gone through the expense of having the plans drawn without having some "vibes" from the Town.

John Duff, of the Association, commented that restrictions on town owned Webster Lake ($28 charge) and overflow from Wallum Lake add to the problem. He reported having pictures of flagrant parking violations, use of woods as sanitary facilities, and the presence of many Rhode Island cars. Duff and other residents feel that supervision, at no cost to the town, would improve safety and reduce the illegal use of alcohol. Money collected will flow through the Police Department Revolving Account to pay the gate-keeper. The Chief of Police will administer the operation as a "contract service" outside the budget.

Blois said it was doubtful that Federal funds for patrol would be available, but reported that the Chief of Police is working on an alternate plan for water safety control. The $5 fee is expected to cover the costs of operation, and is limited to $5 by the Public Access Board agreement. The fee was voted 5-0.

Licenses

The board granted a license to Blossoms on Route 122A to sell garden products from March through December. No chemicals will be stocked.

A new lessee, Theodore Wilbur, was granted a license to operate the Sutton Drive-In from April to December. It was stated that some improvements will be made. Wilbur has discussed with the Police Chief the enforcement of liquor laws. He owns three other drive-ins.

Solid Waste Committee Update

Alex Trenta, Chairman of the Solid Waste Committee, reported on a committee meeting held in response to the Board of Selectmen's request to reevaluate the $35,000 appropriation for a preliminary study of solid waste issues. The Committee feels the money should be maintained and the study should go forward. Doing otherwise "would not be prudent," Trenta said, regardless of "whether or not we decide to close the landfill down, or proceed with a transfer station with a recycling area."

As an alternative, Sutton might operate with a compactor and a landfill cell. The study would enable a town meeting to decide how to proceed and to authorize seeking an exemption to fund the decision.

Selectman Wally Johnson said, "We have to have the seed money to present the case. Even if we never use the landfill, we still need the compactor to get it out of here at the lowest cost."

Board member Mike Chizy, complimenting the Committee on its work to date, said, "Even though you may not need all the $35,000, I think you should go ahead and make your plans and then present it to Town Meeting."

Johnson stressed, "if we go ahead it will have to be an exemption. You can't do this out of a budget any more."

Selectman Rick LaBonte said the least costly way, a transfer station, would still cost the average homeowner about $105 a year.

Dick Wharton, Town Engineer, felt time pressures made it urgent that the town proceed with planning.

Trenta felt the time is now to get an engineering plan at the best price.

"The people voted to get the study," Johnson said. "You can't go against that."

It was finally agreed to proceed with a study to present to a future town meeting.

Personnel Report

Chizy opened a discussion on personnel issues by repeating his belief that the present economic climate is not conducive to providing raises.

LaBonte agreed to the 3% structure for raises on which Blois had based his figures.

Selectman Dave Strieby asked if changes had been made in vacation schedules.

Blois replied that the only changes are in mileage, which has increased from 20 to 22 cents a mile to conform with State practice. He said no changes are planned in educational reimbursements.

Board Chair Mary K. Connor moved to remove the Educational Reimbursement for this year. Strieby seconded the motion.

The language of reimbursement was carried over for municipal employees from the current police contract, which is up for renegotiation as of June 30. Chief Baker has indicated a desire to avail himself of the provision, which the Finance Committee is not planning on recommending. Baker understands that, and will proceed on his own.

LaBonte said he would support the motion if amended to say there would be reimbursement "up to a bachelor's degree."

Connor indicated support for reimbursement in the Police contract, and on that basis LaBonte agreed to go along. The motion passed 5-0.

Proceeding with discussion, Blois explained that the report was based on grades and hours as well as salaries. "While there are some reductions in hours, the 3% may hold," he said.

"My concern is, I don't want people laid off," Chizy said. "If you can get by by cutting hours, fine. I'll go for the 3%." Blois then said, "on the municipal side, if there any layoffs, there will only be one and that is 'iffy' at this point."

The report was accepted 5-0.

4th of July Celebration

Bob Plante, Veterans Agent and Chair of the town's July 4th celebration committee, reported that the committee had decided to name the event "Sutton Salutes the Troops." The celebration will be a family day.

Plante said the committee is grateful for the offer of the Dudley Gendron Post and the Sutton Lions Club "to foot the bill." Other organizations in town are also invited to participate. The tentative plans for the day are: 9 a.m. - Flag raising on the Common and at the Mateychuk Post in Manchaug; 9:30 - Assembly at school; 10 a.m. - Parade to Common with decorated bikes and carriages.; 10:30-11 Certificate ceremony on common for veterans or family members; 11:30-5 - Dudley Gendron Field - booths operated by town organizations. Dudley Gendron will offer free hot dogs with a donation jar, and a 5 cent wheel for kids. Gifts and prizes will be donated by the Legion and the Sutton Lions.

All money collected will be given to the USO.

Additional parking will be available at Sutton Square Mall, with shuttle service available. Other events will be added as time goes on. Johnson invited other groups to participate with such events as barbecues and baseball games.

Plante asked that other organizations interested in participating contact him so they can be included in the publicity and the planning.

The committee is meeting weekly in an effort to make the day a rousing success.

Drainage - Putnam Hill Rd

After several years of complaining to the State, Blois reported that a problem with drainage on Putnam Hill Road is being solved.

Peter Donohue, the new District Highway Engineer, accompanied Blois to the area for an inspection. Blois said Donohue assured the town that he would have his Project Engineer look at the road to see where and what needs to be done to repair and replace the road, and what type of drainage needs to be put in. They will also do a quick maintenance fix on a couple of the problem areas and the drop inlets that have collapsed. "That should be done shortly," Blois said.

The road construction is slated for Spring 1992. Blois also said that Donohue called attention to potential drainage problems as property along the road is developed.

Morganroth Bill

Johnson said he spoke with John Reed (former Sewer Commissioner) about the circumstances leading to an "unpaid" bill submitted by Morganroth Associates, engineering consultants. Johnson said the problem surrounds the fact that the commission wanted Morganroth to work for the developer (Noel), but Morganroth wanted to work for the town.

The sewer commission decided that Morganroth would work for the town, be paid by the town, and the town in turn would collect from the developer.

The controversy is for work done for lower Skyline Drive. This inspection work was done when John Reed resigned and was replaced by Martin Linder. Reed's recollection of details was unclear, Johnson said.

Johnson suggested that Blois talk to Reed and Linder "and get it all squared away. Reed feels we owe him (Morganroth) that bill," Johnson said.

Blois noted that the town still does not have an itemized bill.

Johnson then produced a duplicate Morganroth bill, received by him last October.

Blois inspected the bill and said it was a bill that has already been paid.

LaBonte said the decision should go back to the Sewer Commission. "People who come to this Board looking to correct a bill when it's properly the place of another Board to approve, is in my view the wrong way for us to do business," he said.

Connor suggested that Blois sit down with Reed and the Sewer Commission to straighten the matter out.

Blois replied, "It's got to be approved by the Board that got the service, the Sewer Commission."

Parking Issues

Chizy questioned the status of planned parking line painting at Sutton Square. Blois said it is dependent on weather.

Blois reported that Chief Baker has advised citizens of planned enforcement of parking regulations near playing fields on Pleasant Valley Road and Central Turnpike.

LaBonte pointed to a growing problem at the Manchaug Memorial Field, for which Blois said the Chief was preparing signs.

Karen Potter complained about the non-enforcement and lack of "no parking" signs on Uxbridge Road.

Blois said a 'hold' has been placed on the project because of a Town Hall parking problem. The matter is still being discussed by the Traffic Safety Committee.

Thank You

Closing her last meeting as Chair for this year, Connor said, "It's been a very long year, and I'm glad it's over with. I would like to thank those who've given me support through the year."

The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

balanced budget will save the town with reduced borrowing in anticipation of tax revenue."

School committee members agreed with Anderson that a reply should be sent to the selectmen. Anderson said he would draw up a letter for other members to review.

Spence suggested that since these are sensitive issues related to collective bargaining, the committee might want to seek advice from counsel on the framing of the letter. He said counsel could advise them in a way so as not to put themselves in an embarrassing position.

Spence briefly listed the various types of information he has given the committee in preparation for the upcoming public hearing on a budget of $4,814,000 to be presented to the town meeting for approval. He noted that no figure has been received from the Finance Committee but anticipated a figure by Thursday at the latest. He said the committee is adequately prepared to respond to any questions on the budget and offered more information if members feel they need more.

Bacon said the administration has done a "terrific job" preparing the budget. Her colleagues concurred with her remark.

Spence said that it is the committee's responsibility to present a budget it feels is necessary to run the school system. "If you agree to a budget," he said, "that's it. If it is approved by the town, that's the end of it even though the teachers may feel there is a need for more. If the figure you present to the electorate is reduced, there is an obligation in the contract to hear any input from the teachers before a final decision is made. Any reduction you make that affects working conditions of employees opens up a right to them to bargain. This community should look to emphasizing that the present situation is nobody's fault. Everyone is making an effort," he said.

The meeting adjourned at 8:30 p.m.

Asthma Awareness Group

WORCESTER - The American Lung Association of Central Massachusetts will hold the May meeting of the Central Massachusetts Asthma Awareness Group on May 14, from 7-9 p.m. at the Shrewsbury Middle School. Better Hearing and Speech

BOSTON - In conjunction with the national celebration of "May is Better Hearing and Speech Month," the Massachusetts Commission for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing is coordinating statewide activities to increase public awareness about hearing loss and about new services and technology available for people who are hard of hearing.

The Commission has designated May 5-11 as "Hard of Hearing Awareness Week" with special events designed to educate the public about hearing loss, and how to enhance the quality of life for people of all ages who are hard of hearing. For information on events, contact the Worcester Regional Office at 755-4084.

Suicide Prevention Week

WORCESTER - Suicide Prevention Week will be observed throughout the nation May 5-11. Suicide is now the eighth leading cause of death among Americans, with some 30,000 reported each year.

"Suicide can be prevented. More than 80% of suicide victims communicate their intent ahead of time," says Andrew Slaby, M.D., national president of the American Association of Suicidology.

Among the warning signs are: Talking about suicide; trouble with eating or sleeping; drastic changes in behavior; withdrawal from usual activities and friends; lost interest in hobbies, work or school; taking unnecessary risks; preoccupation with death and dying; lost interest in personal appearance; giving away prized possessions.

If you or someone you know is thinking about suicide, help is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, at the Crisis Center.

The Crisis Center is very much in need of volunteers to staff its hotline. If you would like to help, contact Janice at 791-7205. The Center provides each of its volunteers with training, supervision and a challenging, rewarding experience.

Committee, urging the town to continue to address issues concerning pollution at sites outside of the pond area. He also noted that an area off Wheelock Avenue has developed into a dump and should be checked.

Cristo suggested that the highway department be asked to check with the owner of the property to see if it could be closed off to prevent access.

Lachance asked if any response has come back from the owner of SteelCraft on West Main Street relative to the board's request that some clean up work be done on property they own. Chase said he had not heard anything.

Lachance asked that another letter be sent if there is no response this week.

The board approved a recommendation by Chase to increase the present hourly rate of secretary Debbie Plante from $10.87 per hour to $12.19 per hour for the six weeks that the board's executive secretary will not be working.

The board received a bill for the town's assessment of $8700 as its payment for the operation of the County Jail.

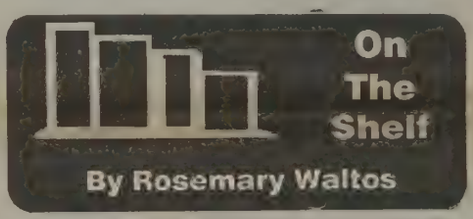
A letter from the Fire Department noted that the department had an oil shortage on three occasions due to a lack of oil being delivered on the automatic fill system. Chase said he contacted Peterson Oil who apologized for the errors.

Cristo asked that Chase check and see if the town was charged a service cost.

A letter from the State DPW was received, asking the town to refer any individuals or groups to the State DPW who may want to volunteer to do litter pick up on a volunteer basis from April 15 to November 15.

The board received a copy of a letter sent to Officer Gerard Kelley of the Millbury Police Department from Bea Curll. Curll thanked Kelley for issuing her a ticket. "...you stopped me for having an expired inspection sticker. When I took my vehicle in, it was found that I had a broken Sway Bar. If the bar had hit my tire, or something else under there while I was traveling, the results would have been awful.

"So even though I hate paying the fine," Curll wrote, "its a small price to pay for the safety."



Starting with the now disappearing vinyl long-playing records, nonprint materials found their home in libraries decades ago. Other formats such as filmstrips, 16mm films, and audio cassettes soon followed. In the 1980's, libraries began providing a hot new product to the customers. That product was VIDEO.

With the advent of videotapes for the home market, the audiovisual services of the Central Massachusetts Regional Library System began developing a core collection of videotapes to quell the demand from member libraries. Through the years, this collection has grown, until today the Region maintains a collection of over 2,000 titles. This impressive collection includes a wide range of film titles from how-to's to foreign films; Hollywood's favorite oldies to contemporary classics, and documentaries to animated films.

All of these titles can be found listed in the Central Massachusetts Regional Library System Videocassette Catalog. This catalog provides an alphabetical listing of titles in this collection. You'll find an accompanying brief description of each title, even individual titles in a series. Running time, viewing audience recommendation and production dates are also included. There is also an extensive subject index. For instance, you'll find over 450 children's titles listed together as well as 31 French films under one subject heading. Parents will easily find 45 films listed under "Parenting."

Recently, the Region began publishing special subject catalogs highlighting titles in 16mm and video formats. "Women Then and Now" and "Made in the USA" are two of them.

If you are a regular borrower of videotapes from the Millbury Public Library, you have probably already checked out CMRLS videotapes from the Region's rotating collection that rotates among the 60 or so public libraries in Central Massachusetts. What you may not realize is that you can also check out any of the 2,000 titles available from this CMRLS collection by simply requesting the titles you want at the Millbury Public Library. In turn, we will gladly process your request so that you get your films as soon as possible.

So don't bemoan the fact that you've seen everything the library or your favorite video store has to offer. Instead, drop by the Millbury Public Library for a visit and sit back, relax in one of our comfortable chairs while you leisurely peruse the Central Massachusetts Regional Library System videocassette catalog. Then just give us your preference.

In a few days, seemingly no time at all, you'll be picking up your selections from the Millbury Public Library. From there, all you have to do is pop it in your VCR and "pass the popcorn, please."

For more information about the CMRLS collection of fine vide tapes available to you, just call 865-1181.

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

What a time of year! Now we can open up "My Window" and get rid of the winter's stale air and let in the fresh breezes of spring. So many things are happening. Flowers and trees are blooming in all of their splendor. The birds are back and singing. And every organization in town is getting ready for their spring and summer events.

Right now, I'm dashing this off at home getting ready to help out at the Health Fair of the District Nurses. They are a wonderful organization, and worthy of our support. They have outgrown their facilities at the Asa Waters House and are in need of a house of their own. Being a non-profit organization, they are not dependent on government money (which is not really the government's, it's ours that they have stolen and misused for political purposes). Anyway, they are worthy of our support.

I had a nice talk with "Hap" Erickson of the Parks and Recreation Commission, and he gets real excited about his programs for Millbury. The one we started to talk about was the summer Concerts on the Common. We hope to put on one of them with an old fashioned "Singspiration." The other thing we talked about was the "Super Park." Again, this is going to be for money that we can freely give and raise ourselves.

The "Little League" was going to be out today collecting for the financial needs of their organization. They got underway with a parade on Sunday afternoon; we asked them to hold off until the afternoon so we could conclude our morning services, and we really appreciate their cooperation. We have several groups from the high school who are going on trips to compete in national competitions that they have earned the right to participate in, and they deserve our support.

Of course, I would be negligent not to mention the many fairs, suppers, flea markets, etc. that are being put on by the churches of our community. Again, an opportunity to give and remember that our God loves a cheerful giver. God bless you all. Amen.

"Atty. O'Connell stated that the developer has built extensively in this town for many years, and even though to develop these plans cost a lot of money, the preliminary plan is made so that the Planning Board can get a clear idea of what the developer is going to do. In turn, the Planning Board can indicate to them what they would like to see if the Special Permit is granted."

Anthony Mangano questioned how close the buildings would be to the wall that is near his property.

Donohoe showed on the plan that the buildings in the back would be fairly close to the wall.

Florence Gagne asked why the Planning Board does not contact people living in a residential neighborhood before plans are made.

"Mr. J.Fitzpatrick stated that it is a residential use, and that is the reason that the citizens were notified of the public hearing. However, when it is a residential use, the abutters do not have to be notified when a plan is discussed or submitted before a public hearing."

At 10:40 the public hearing was closed.

A letter was received from Grafton Street resident Loretta M. Jensen, dated July 29, 1983, objecting to the condominium project. The letter read, in part, "These condominiums will be built on an area considerably smaller than 60 acres because part of the area is a pond and brook. The leaching area for their sewerage system will be inadequate and create a nuisance to the area."

On August 9, 1983, a report from the Planning Board detailed issues raised during the July 25th hearing. The issues, and some of the comments following them, were as follows:

1. Traffic
2. Water pressure - "The water pressure issue has already been addressed by the Mass. American Water Co.," the report stated. "In a letter to the Planing Board dated June 27, 1983, company manager Mark W. Dana has stated that the water company has sufficient water for fire protection and domestic use to supply 180 units of town houses off of Grafton Street."
3. Increase in children - "Representatives of Forrow Builders estimated at the July 25th meeting that approximately one unit out of ten will contain families with children. This low estimate is a result of most condominium-dwelling families being in the pre or post-child rearing stages."
4. Scheduling concerns were raised as to the amount of time it will take to complete the entire development.
5. Property values
6. Sewerage - "Forrow Builders have proposed drainage and sewerage facilities similar in design to those installed at Tiffany Townhouses (septic systems as opposed to sewers). Yet one person attending the Special Permit hearing stated that the type of system installed at Tiffany is inadequate, and is evidenced by a strong odor in the area.

"The fist step in addressing the sewerage issue may be to check the Tiffany sewerage system to see if complaints about this particular type of system are valid. Overall, it should be noted that given the high cost of sewering and lack of federal/state sewer funds, some form of septic system will have to be installed at the Grafton Street site. As such, it may be feasible for the Planning board to hire an engineering consultant to study septic system impacts on the area and recommend the design of the system to be installed.

7. Density - or the amount of acreage available at the site versus the number of housing units being proposed....the advantages of cluster-type development may be studied to gain an understanding of how much land is needed to adequately support the Grafton Street project."

(NEXT WEEK: the Planning Board reviews reports submitted by Boston Surveying Co., the town's consultants.)

Town Report Available

MILLBURY - Copies of the Annual Town Report with the warrant articles for the upcoming annual town meeting are available in the Municipal Office Building from 9-4 Monday through Friday.

Beacon Hill Roll Call

BOSTON - This week's "Beacon Hill Roll Call" records the votes of Senator Matthew Amorello (R-Grafton) on three roll calls from the week of April 22-26. Also included is an earlier Senate vote from April 8. There were no roll calls in the House last week.

CABINET SALARIES (H 5300) - Senate 27-13, overrode Governor Weld's veto of language reducing the $85,000 salary Weld established for his cabinet secretaries. On April 8, the Senate favored 26-14, but fell one vote short of the two-thirds margin necessary to override. Override supporters said the salaries were irresponsible in light of recent program cutbacks along with employee layoffs and furloughs. They argued the $60,000 to $80,000 the secretaries received under Governor Dukakis is sufficient. Veto supporters said the $85,000 is necessary to attract and retain qualified people. They noted hundreds of others in state government receive more than $85,000 and argued the Governor, not the legislature should set these salaries. Two roll calls are listed. The first is the 26-14 unsuccessful override. The second is on the 27-13 successful override. Amorello voted for the $85,000 salaries on both votes.

TRANSPORTATION BOND (S 1498) - Senate 33-0 gave initial approval to its own version of a $5 billion plus transportation bond package to fund the Central Artery/third harbor tunnel project and repairs and upgrades to mass transit, bridges and roads. One senator voted "no" but his vote was "paired" under a senate rule and does not appear in the total. The package authorizes state borrowing of $2.5 billion which will trigger another $2.5 billion in federal reimbursements. Amorello voted for the package.

SUSPEND RULES (S 1498) - Senate 37-2, suspended rules to allow immediate consideration of the $5 billion transportation bond package. Supporters said immediate consideration is important because the package is needed to improve roads, bridges and mass transit. Opponents said senators should have more time to read this multi-billion dollar package and claimed it is being rushed through the Senate. Amorello voted for the rule suspension.

Thoreau Society Jubilee

CONCORD - To celebrate its 50th anniversary, The Thoreau Society of Concord, MA, is sponsoring nature walks, tours and outings, poetry readings, lectures, musical events, panel discussions and exhibits in Worcester, July 8-12 and in Concord, July 11-19. The focus of the Worcester portion of the Society's Jubilee will be Henry David Thoreau as a social critic, engineer, scientist, and connoisseur of music.

In Concord, the Jubilee will focus on Thoreau as a nature writer, pioneering ecologist, and conservationist. To explore Thoreau County, including Walden Woods, Walden Pond, and other sites in Concord, a variety of walking tours, nature walks, bicycle tours, canoe trips, and visits to historic houses and museums will be offered. Also, plans are being made for tours to various other Thoreau sites in New England including Fruitlands Museums, the Scituate-Cohasset area, Cape Cod, and Mounts Wachusett and Monadnock.

Registration materials and additional information, including details about costs, lodging, and transportation will be available in early May. For further information or to pre-register, contact Jubilee organizers at (508) 369-4213.
